

The Indiana law restricting sales calls has been the most positive event in our personal lives. We can now sit down and eat dinner together without being interrupted by sales calls. Before the law, we were badgered every single evening at dinner. Please do not take away our right to be alone as a family in our own home.